

ABSTRACT

A method for producing a fat by distillation and purification while preventing isomerization. The 5 distillation and purification is conducted under an acidic condition to prevent isomerization.